

SAT Test Preparation Services and Tutors

As you know, the SAT is an important component of the college admissions process. The Westford Academy Counseling Department receives frequent requests for names of test preparation services and tutors. We believe the best preparation for our students is through rigorous coursework offered here at Westford Academy. Students who do significant independent reading also tend to do well on this exam.

Khan Academy

To take advantage of the free, personalized tutoring support through Khan Academy, you must create an account with Khan Academy and then connect that account with your College Board account.

(studentscores.collegeboard.org)

1. Visit satpractice.org to create an account and log in to Khan Academy.
2. Click the button that asks if you want to connect your accounts.
3. Got to collegeboard.org, log in, and click "Send" to connect accounts and send your test scores to Khan Academy.

To learn more about how to make the most of your PSAT score report, watch the following 2 minute YouTube video: Understanding Your PSAT/NMSQT Score Report at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ie6WBDzjtGA>

This video is invaluable in walking you through each section and reviewing how to use this information to prepare for future standardized testing. Information includes how to read scores in each section to understand areas to focus on for improvement. whether or not you are meeting grade level benchmarks for being on track for college and career readiness, and areas for which you may wish to utilize the free SAT practice support provided through Khan Academy. You can also review each question (with online answer explanations) to identify patterns of incorrect answer choices.

If students wish to prepare further, there are many options offered in a wide variety of price ranges, including: commercial companies, online services and private tutoring. Although we are unable to endorse particular firms or individuals, this list may help you in your search for SAT Test Preparation assistance.

Good luck on the exam!
